

Promoting children's development with fun and games

The ESDA XXL Funblocks and XS Playblocks building block system from boho play combines the advantages of well-known building block systems and enables realistic structures to be built thanks to its size of up to 30 cm.

Children can effortlessly create imaginative structures and develop their own ideas and skills through playful creativity.

By playing with the XXL building blocks, perception, coordination, body, movement and health are strengthened holistically and in the best possible way.

Playing together promotes motor development as well as language skills. This makes learning and concentration at school much easier later on.

Made in Germany

100% developed and manufactured in Germany. So you can be sure you're getting the best quality and a safe toy.

Tested safety

Meets the strict European safety standards for toys EN 71. Independently tested by the Ostthüringische Materialprüfungsgesellschaft für Textil und Kunststoffe mbH.

Excellent product range

The ESDA building block range has been awarded the 'Moving Innovation' seal of approval by the Institute for Movement Education & Movement Research (InBub).
